Student-Led Clinic at the People's Health Clinic

On Friday afternoons starting in October 2023, medical students from the University of Utah will be providing clinical care at the People's Health Clinic. They will be working under the supervision of subspecialists from the University of Utah.

The student-led clinic will serve the dual purpose of increasing University of Utah-level clinical access for patients and providing an excellent learning opportunity for students. Patients will receive high-quality assessments, counseling, and management of medical conditions while students will learn clinical skills, evaluate health inequities, and serve as advocates for their patients. This is an exciting new opportunity that will expand care for our uninsured community members.

Awards

We want to express our profound gratitude to the Promontory Foundation for the incredibly generous grant we received at this year's 'Happiest Hour' reception. We are deeply honored to have our vital medical services recognized and to receive exceptional support from your wonderful community!

Congratulations to our CEO, Dr. Mairi Leining, for receiving the 2023 COPIC Humanitarian Award at the Utah Medical Association House of Delegates. This award recognizes Dr. Leining's volunteer medical services and contributions to the Utah health care community. In addition, it comes with a $10,000 donation to The People's Health Clinic!
